

Masterclass

“Nutrition and Cancer – from Bed to Bench to Behaviour”

4-6 February 2019, Wageningen, The Netherlands

Aim and background

The topic of 2019's Masterclass Nutrition and Cancer will be 'from Bench to Bed to Behaviour.' Together with an international panel of speakers and experts, we aim for a multidisciplinary approach ranging from biology, epidemiology to the clinic and public health. This will be the third Masterclass on Nutrition and Cancer organized by Wageningen University and VLAG Graduate School in collaboration with WCRF international and the Wereld Kanker Onderzoek Fonds.

Participants

The international Masterclass is at a postgraduate level and aims at professionals from various fields (nutritionists, epidemiologists, health promoters, physicians, health policy makers, nutrition educators, biologists and food scientists) interested in the topic. The course may be of specific use for PhD students and postdocs working in this field.

Course design

The main themes will be introduced by a selected number of invited speakers of international reputation. A significant number of slots will be available for oral presentations, oral flash presentations as well as poster presentations. The posters will be on display throughout the course and a poster session will be organized. The Scientific Committee will select oral and poster presentations based on submitted abstracts.

Programme topics

- Energy metabolism and cancer
- Cancer prevention guidelines
- Nutrition and cancer treatment
- Lifestyle changes
- Communication
- Research methodology
- Research priorities
- Ask the expert session

Abstract

Participants are encouraged to submit an abstract for a poster presentation. Deadline abstract submission: Wednesday 14 November 2018.
